ABLE Age Adjustment Act to Benefit Millions

IAble, lowa's Achieving a Better Life Experience (ABLE) plan, provides individuals with disabilities and people in their support system a way to save above asset caps for disability-related expenses without compromising their eligibility for certain federal assistance programs, like Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and Medicaid. In December, the Age Adjustment Act for ABLE plans was passed, which will raise the eligibility age for the onset of a disability from age 26 to 46. Beginning in January 2026, 6.2 million more people, including more than 1 million veterans, will have the ability to benefit from an ABLE account; this also includes people with multiple sclerosis and other neurological conditions often diagnosed after their mid-twenties.
